“ My main priority is to establish a close working relationship with clients. This assists me in delivering quality professional services at an acceptable price ... ”

Gary brings more than 20 years experience to MacGillivrays’ Litigation and Dispute Resolution practice.

Gary’s breadth of experience has proved crucial to the success of many of his clients in a range of commercial and contractual disputes, recoveries and trade practices issues.

In addition to conducting cases for his clients, Gary is responsible for training and managing paralegals, solicitors and articled clerks who work in Litigation and Dispute Resolution Services.

A trained mediator, Gary focuses on identifying and accommodating the key stakeholders in any dispute while putting his clients’ objectives first. Often achieving cost efficient solutions through mediation, he also has a successful track record in court litigation.

Gary heads up the recoveries unit for the firm’s banking clients as well as acting for and advising clients in the building, transport, advertising, financial, retail and wholesale industries.

Away from work Gary plays golf and enjoys camping.
