“ A great result isn’t just winning a case at all costs. My real motivation lies in winning whilst achieving cost and time efficient outcomes for clients. ”

Guy is an experienced litigator recognised for his common sense and strategic approach to resolving disputes and advising on commercial matters.

His clients include professional service firms, liquidators, public and private companies and financiers. As well as acting on behalf of these clients, Guy passes on his skills to them through regular training in risk management and credit control.

An expert on trade practices, Guy has extensive experience advising on issues ranging from competition and money lending through to franchisor liability and industry price fixing.

He has published articles and lectured on a broad range of topics including public risk, insolvency, insurance law and trade practices law. He is also a trained mediator.

Guy has practised in the field of litigation since 1983, has been a specialist litigator and partner with MacGillivrays since 1995 and is a member of the Insolvency Practitioners Association of Australia.

On weekends, Guy can usually be found working on his ten acre property, cycling, playing tennis or just keeping fit. In winter he likes to hit the snow fields.
